

The launch of Broonland was a successful and enjoyable evening attended by politicians, academics, journalists and many of Chris's friends and family.

Education Secretary Michael Russell MSP spoke, congratulating Chris on having the courage to publish a book on politics (and a controversial one at that) while serving as an MSP.

Click on images to enlarge.

